

Bloom

Design: Kris Van Puyvelde

Description

Umbrella with aluminum ribs and stainless steel pole. The round or square canopy is available in various sizes and in an array of colors. Lever operated spindle system. When the spindle is activated, the upper part of the hub is pulled down to join the lower one, while all the small supporting ribs join nicely into one solid looking, organic piece. As such, the Bloom looks like a strutless umbrella, although in fact it is not. Seen from below it looks like a flower in bloom. Hence the name. Different bases are available on demand. Includes cover bag.

Finishes & Materials
