

Lancer Moonglass

Design: Renato Guerra

Description

Table with base in embossed lacquered steel or lacquered steel. Top in bronze burned glass Moonglass.

What makes this table a unique model is the base with a strong architectural value, enlivened by a punchy graphic sign. Four blades cut through the air and intersect each other, creating an energetic composition with an apparently irreproducible pattern. Each leg is designed with a T-section, which multiplies the opportunities for crossing and overlapping.

The entire base is thus strengthened by a rhythmic chiaroscuro effect, in which the blind zones contrast with the metal portions struck by the light. The top is made of decorated glass with a three-dimensional bronze finish, irregular to the touch. Made in Italy.

Imperfections, streaks, color variations and irregularities of shape are characteristics of the processing and are not to be considered as defects.
