

Dogma

Design: Alain Gilles

Description

Collection of bookcases offered in three different modules which can be combined at will. The three of them are designed around a basic element, namely the tear-drop-shaped uprights which change the visual perception. The design thus becomes rounded and soft or sharper and narrower depending on the angle from which it is viewed.

They feature different spacing between the uprights, which when placed side by side, allow different combinations to be created. Available with wood shelves combined with metal uprights, or in monocolour version, they can be placed along a wall or free-standing in the centre of the room acting as a partition between two areas. Made in Italy.

Max. capacity: 15 kg per shelf
