

Crown

Design: Brian Rasmussen

Description

The pastoral is a full-glass decorative element in Murano glass, characteristic of the Venetian chandelier which has become an icon in its category: the Taif. The pastoral, disproportionately magnified and hung upside-down, makes the new Crown collection: six suspended lights which are worthy of a modern king's minimalistic palace. Offered in three sizes (with one ring) such as in this case or with more rings (see Related Products). Crown consists of single or multiple carefully-painted metal rings with openings that large pastorals are fitted into. A long continuous series of dimmable LED lights runs along the rings, illuminates the top of each pastoral and in turn lights up the entire pastoral due to the refraction caused by surface of the glass. Made in Italy.
