

Kate

Design: Studio - Arketipo

Description

The long days, the warm evenings, the act of simply taking a moment to ourselves and doing it somewhere different. Somewhere where our only distraction is the environment we occupy. Outside is a summer's new inside, and outside should never be forgotten for elegance.

Using Iroko wood, Arketipo marries material with sentiment and chooses elegant lines and form to make the outside the place where you would choose to relax. It's a chair that whispers rather than announces, a chair that rewards a beautiful material rather than having it upstaged. KATE is the chair which pursues elegance knowingly.
