

Doge

Design: Mauro Lipparini

Description

The name of the Doge family of lounge chairs is inspired by the figure of the Doge, the head of government at the time of the Venetian “La Serenissima” Republic.

The presence of two flaps that wrap around the seat starting from the armrest are reminiscent of the Doge's headgear, giving the armchair's shape a sense of distinction and authority. The Doge armchair is available in three models.

Here is presented the version with a central four-legged metal base. The internal structure is made in metal and seat and backrest are padded in cold-foamed polyurethane. Available with non-removable cover in fabric or leather. Made in Italy.
