Description

Console that presents an unexpected shape, it is as if the elements that make up this piece were not intended to be together, but had instead shifted unexpectedly away from their original position, thereby giving life to a contemporary and recognizable accessory with a striking top and unusual bases.

A barely visible opening between the curved modules that form the base allows an interplay of light that illuminates the different profiles of the console's supporting columns. The legs are very close to each other, so much so that from different perspectives the distance is imperceptible; this generates visual instability and a surprising dynamic effect.

Available in different versions:

- . With base in metal and top in veneered wood.
 - . Monomaterial version, with top and base in veneered wood (Base: veneered covered metal).
 - . Monomaterial version, with top and base in hand spatulated clay (Top: wood covered with clay Base: metal covered with clay).
- Made in Italy.
