

Mathilda

Design: Patricia Urquiola

Description

Lounge chair with structure in ash or oak wood*. Seat padded with differentiated density polyurethane foam and backrest in cold foamed polyurethane with an internal wooden multilayer structure. Armrest covers come in a leather or fabric strap or braided in cord. Mathilda covers are not removable.

Mathilda is a modern project in the architectural sense, in the proportional relationship between the whole and the detail. The idea is simple, perfect for the function for which it is reserved: two trestles confer solidity and belonging, they support the seat lending themselves simultaneously as supports for the backrest. Made in Italy.
