Design: Patricia Urquiola

Description

Coffee table with structure in matt lacquered MDF. Top in "float" glass, 3/4" thick, with rounded edges and resting on the structure. Here, the designer moves away from pure color, in favor of pastel tones. The construction borrows from the principles of neoplasticism by projecting a mini-architecture in scale. The wall becomes a partition used to break up the space, separate and reduce it to an abstract geometric sign before putting it all back together in a balanced play between full and empty, positive and negative. Made in Italy.
