Description

Discover the HedgeHock – the stool that adapts to you, while promoting healthy sitting posture. With flexible, built-in suspension seat blocks, the HedgeHock encourages active sitting, providing a supportive and comfortable experience that combats tension and enhances better circulation.

The HedgeHock makes a statement in every interior. This ergonomic seat, characterized by its sharp cubic design, serves as a standout piece whether on its own or as part of a seating group, adding a distinctive touch to any environment.

Ensures durability and protection against the elements. All wooden surfaces of this cubic ergonomic seat are meticulously treated with certified hard wax oil, providing both an attractive finish and safeguarding against environmental factors. This meticulous craftsmanship enhances the longevity of the HedgeHock, making it a functional and aesthetic addition to your space.
