

Malamata

Design: Shulab Studio

Description

The Malamata suspension lamp brings sculptural movement and refined innovation to contemporary interiors. Named for the Hebrew expression meaning “up and down,” Malamata is defined by its distinctive adjustable system, allowing the blown-glass diffuser, available in two sphere diameters, to shift effortlessly into multiple positions. With a simple press of the button located above the diffuser, a spring mechanism releases, letting the spherical counterweight glide smoothly along the steel stem. This intuitive motion enables precise height adjustments, creating perfectly vertical or beautifully tilted compositions.

Crafted with a steel structure and an elegant blown-glass diffuser, this designer suspension lamp offers both atmospheric illumination and visual dynamism. Ideal for living rooms, dining areas, and sophisticated contract spaces, Malamata delivers flexible, expressive lighting that adapts seamlessly to any setting while serving as a striking contemporary centerpiece. Made in Italy.
