

Sansiro Rectangular Table

Design: Meneghello Paoelli

Description

Sansiro is a dining table with a solid canaletto walnut frame and a rectangular or oval top, available in wood or marble. The design of the legs becomes a defining architectural feature, created through a sequence of solid and open areas that bring depth and movement to the space. This rhythm of full and empty volumes forms a sculptural pattern, giving the table a sense of suspension and repetition as each ring builds upward toward the top. Conceived as a highly versatile piece, Sansiro can adapt to a wide range of interior styles. Depending on the selected top, it can be configured as a wooden table or a table with a marble surface, allowing for broad customization based on aesthetic goals and functional needs. The rectangular version features rounded edges, a solid canaletto walnut frame, and turned legs formed from four solid wooden components with visible joints where each piece connects. It is available with either a marble top or a wooden top that matches the warm character of the base. Made in Italy.
