Design: R&D Dallagnese

Description

Azimut is a refined coffee table designed to take its place at the center of the living room, where balance, proportion, and understated elegance are essential. Defined by its classic rectangular shape, it appeals to those who appreciate regular, strict, and well-defined geometries, making it a versatile choice for a wide range of interior styles.

This low rectangular coffee table is supported by slender yet solid metal legs, which lend the design a light architectural presence while ensuring stability. Available in both midi and maxi versions, Azimut adapts effortlessly to different spatial requirements, from compact living rooms to more generous settings.

The tabletop offers a variety of refined material options, including wood, veneer, or lacquer, all finished with a distinctive 30° tilted perimeter edge that enhances the table's sharp, contemporary character. Alternatively, the top can be executed in stoneware, adding a sophisticated and tactile contrast to the clean geometry of the structure. With its balanced proportions and timeless design, Azimut is a coffee table that integrates seamlessly into modern living spaces while maintaining a strong and elegant identity. Made in Italy.
