Description

The Bomber round coffee table is designed as a sculptural and expressive element for the living room, available in two different heights to suit various spatial and functional needs. Its strong visual identity is defined by the base, where slender metal rods are crafted with exceptional skill and precision, evoking the refined expertise of master ironworkers of the past. This artisanal workmanship gives the table a distinctive, architectural presence while maintaining visual lightness.

The round tabletop is available in two sizes, allowing for flexible compositions either as a single statement piece or in paired arrangements. It can be executed in stoneware for a refined, tactile effect, or in wood finished with a characteristic 30° sloping perimeter edge. Wood options range from natural veneers to matt or glossy lacquered finishes, offering a broad palette for customization. Balanced, elegant, and rich in material character, the Bomber coffee table is a sophisticated addition to contemporary living spaces that value craftsmanship and timeless design.
