

Koniko

Design: Matteo Zorzenoni

Description

Koniko is a sculptural and refined table designed by Matteo Zorzenoni, conceived as a piece that elevates any environment through pure geometry and material sophistication.

Its almost monolithic presence and distinctive conical base create an architectural focal point that aligns seamlessly with designer furniture collections. The table's silhouette expresses elegant stability, making it a standout element in luxury home furniture settings.

The central wooden base, meticulously crafted and available in a wide selection of premium finishes, serves as the foundation of its statuesque character.

The slim fixed top offers different sizes to suit dining areas, open living spaces, or high-end hospitality interiors. The stoneware top ensures durability and visual refinement, while the wood option introduces warmth and artisanal detail.

Timeless in its design language and elevated in material execution, Koniko embodies the perfect synergy between modern contemporary living room furniture and luxury Italian furniture craftsmanship. It stands as a statement piece for discerning interiors that value proportion, innovation, and the expressive power of essential form.
