

Elle

Description

The Elle TV stand is a refined freestanding composition that expresses contemporary elegance through modular design, architectural balance, and premium materials. Rising vertically or horizontally, depending on the model, with an alternating sequence of modules, it creates a dynamic and sculptural presence while offering generous storage and display possibilities.

Crafted in blockboard ash wood, the structure features thick sides and tops for a solid, refined look, complemented by ash plywood back panels and integrated shelves in blockboard ash wood. Thoughtfully designed elements include (depending on the model) doors with fluted design, glass door and decorative glass elements and an independent drawer box that allow flexible positioning.

Integrated horizontal LED profiles within the shelves emit a warm light, enhancing the materials and overall ambiance. Additional illuminated glass dividers and decorative accessories in painted steel and marble further enrich the design. Available in three different configurations, the Elle TV stand combines functionality, versatility, and sophisticated Italian-inspired style, making it a statement piece for modern living rooms. Made in Italy.

Note: Optional Bluetooth sound-system. Installed on the rear of the Tv-panel, it turns the wooden panel into a speaker to play audio of the devices through Bluetooth technology.
