

Manta

Design: Matteo Zorzenoni

Description

Manta is a sophisticated office armchair designed for contemporary home living, where craftsmanship, ergonomics, and refined aesthetics come together. Available in two models, it features a structure in EPA-certified plywood, fir, and hardboard, padded with open-cell polyurethane and Dacron layers for lasting comfort. Upholstered in premium leather or fabric, the handcrafted leather elements act as both structure and support for the padded seat and backrest, highlighting the chair's artisanal quality.

The Manta D swivel version includes ash wood armrests connected by three leather-covered metal blades, a black lacquered star-shaped base with polished aluminum spokes, a chrome column, rubberized castors, and a gas-lift height adjustment system for smooth mobility and functionality.

The Manta P version stands on solid ash wood pyramid-shaped legs with a swivel base, offering stability combined with dynamic movement. Its timeless elegance makes it suitable not only for a modern home office but also for dining areas or living spaces, a perfect balance of design, versatility, and comfort. Made in Italy.
