Description

This wall lamp is defined by a minimalist aesthetic and a bold, dynamic graphic line, where light, form, and structure interact to create an evocative and contemporary presence. Its clean composition enhances vertical surfaces with architectural clarity, making it a refined addition to interiors curated within a luxury furniture collection.

The design features a slender horizontal arm supporting a circular lighting element, creating a balanced and sculptural silhouette. The arm allows a controlled rotation of 58 degrees on each side, offering precise adjustability and directional lighting. The arm also includes an adjustable suspension cable up to 59", adding further flexibility to its positioning.

At the center of the disc, a white opaline diffuser ensures a soft, even glow, while the surrounding structure adds depth and visual definition. This thoughtful combination of movement and form integrates seamlessly into spaces styled with designer furniture.

This wall version is ideal for creating symmetrical compositions and layered lighting effects. Its adjustable functionality and refined proportions make it perfect for sophisticated interiors and curated living room sets, delivering both visual impact and practical versatility.
