

Me-Time Sectional

Design: García Cumini

Description

The design of the Me-Time sectional sofa takes shape through rigorous research into design, emotion, and memory, transforming contemporary spaces into an enveloping domestic refuge. Its generous, fluid lines evoke familiar archetypes through a process of controlled deformation, where soft volumes and sculptural curves dialogue harmoniously with surrounding interior architecture to deliver extraordinary comfort and well-being.

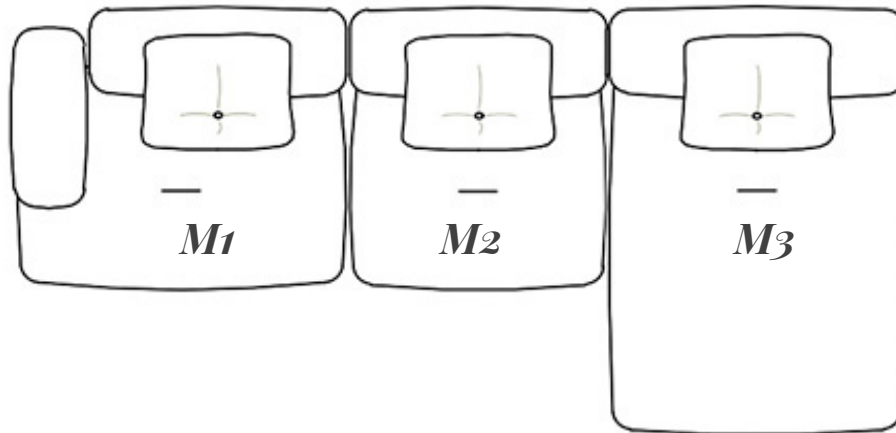

The load-bearing frame combines a wooden structure and a steel chassis equipped with flexible polypropylene slats to ensure maximum stability and support. The seat cushion padding is crafted from differentiated-density polyurethane foam, enhanced with a memory foam topper and soft goose down. This premium combination of materials guarantees exceptional ergonomic support, lasting resilience, and sumptuous comfort for prestigious residential living spaces and luxury contract lounge environments.
