

Fattidipietra Bench

By Gumdesign for PRIMAR

Description

The Contemporary Fattidipietra Bench is part of a collection inspired by primary forms and the memory of domestic seating. Familiar elements such as cushions and armrests are translated into stone, turning soft, everyday references into lasting material expressions. Available in two sizes, the bench is designed to adapt to different settings and create spaces for pause and contemplation. Its sculptural character brings together function, urban identity, material presence, and a strong connection between place and daily life. Made in Italy.
